Kalkaji college joins NPCL's drive against plastic in G Noida

The Noida Power Company Limited has been joined by students of Kalkaji-based college in its drive to make Greater Noida plastic-free. Students at JIMS Campus visited the NPCL office in Greater Noida and disposed of over 200 plastic bottles in the reverse vending machine (RVM) installed there. NPCL appreciates the contributions of all the students who were part of this campaign and has awarded them certificates of appreciation for this noble cause. "In our effort to raise environmental awareness, Noida Power Company Limited would like to thank JIMS and all its students for participating in this campaign. We hope more and more people will join this NPCL campaign in the future and help make Greater Noida plastic-free," said an NPCL spokesperson. TNN

APPRECIATION LETTER

We would like to convey our heartiest thanks to Dr. Preeti Singh, Assistant Professor, JIMS, Kalkaji for spending time and adding spark to the lives of the kids at GoodWorks centre. Celebrating Holi with these blooming buds of the deprived garden is really commendable.

Celebration with such a noble intention of strengthening bond with people outside one's own community is the Celebration in true sense.

GoodWorks Trust thanks you once again for your kind gesture and sparing your valuable time to bring smile on faces of these children who have been forgotten by the society.

We really had a great time.

Regards,

A circular purple stamp of GoodWorks Trust is visible. Overlaid on it is a handwritten signature in blue ink. Below the signature, the words "GoodWorks Trust" are printed in a bold, sans-serif font.
