The Environment

External

The landscape of business education is being reshaped by globalization and new technologies leading to heightened competition, complexity, and change. Business schools compete for students across the globe, offering programs on multiple continents, using myriad technologies that minimize the importance of physical distance. The marketplace for faculty is global, creating unprecedented demand for faculty talent. The new landscape requires business schools to ensure their educational experiences and research meet the emerging needs of students, businesses, and society. Students need to be prepared for the challenges of cross-border and cross-cultural commerce, rapidly evolving technologies, and the need to manage limited resources. Employers seek students with a global mindset, who are entrepreneurial in their thinking and actions, with strong communication and analytical skills. Faculty need to be prepared to work on solutions to the complex and multidisciplinary problems facing businesses and society. Business schools need to develop a culture of continuous innovation and experimentation to keep pace with change in the external world, and identify better ways to serve existing markets while at the same time exploring opportunities in new markets. Also with the strong impetus being provided by the Government on implementation of NEP 2020, Colleges will need to adapt and redefine their Academic policies so that their Curricular reflect greater practical orientation, internationalization and interdisciplinary aspects.
